

“One day, I saw two roads. One was broad, covered with sand & flowers, full of joy, music & all sorts of pleasures. People walked along it, dancing & enjoying themselves. They reached the end without realizing it. And, at the end of the road, there was a horrible precipice; that is, the abyss of hell. The souls fell blindly into it; as they walked, so they fell. Their number was so great that it was impossible to count them. And I saw the other road, or rather, a path, for it was narrow & strewn with thorns & rocks; the people who walked along it had tears in their eyes & all kinds of suffering befell them. Some fell down upon the rocks but stood up immediately and went on. At the end of the road there was a magnificent garden filled with all sorts of happiness, and all these souls entered there. And, at once, they forgot all their sufferings.” ~ #153, The Diary of St. Maria Faustina Kowalska, seer of the Divine Mercy.
